Avoid driving long distances

Up to 300 Vitality Drive points

We look at the total number of kilometres you drove over the past 30 days. The more time spent on the road, the higher your risk of being in an accident.

Avoid night-time driving

Up to 300 Vitality Drive points

Avoid driving at night especially between 23:00 and 04:30. During these times, there is decreased visibility, it's harder to focus and there are more impaired drivers on the road.

These points are calculated as the total night-time driving points of 300 less the sum of Vitality Drive points deducted for night-time driving over the past 30 days.

Remain claim-free

Up to 300 Vitality Drive points

You can earn up to 300 Vitality Drive points a month by not claiming. You earn 150 Vitality Drive points for two claim-free years and 300 Vitality Drive points for three claim-free years. Vehicle glass claims and SOS claims do not count for these claim-free points.

Pass the Annual MultiPoint check
